Arts centre may go as cuts loom

BY JO DEEKS and JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HAVERHILL Arts Centre faces closure if the town council has to make most of its staff redundant, the authority has warned.

The threat comes after Government moves to limit council tax increases and demand local referendums over larger increases.

Haverhill Town Council backed a response by town clerk Gordon Mussett at a special meeting last night.

He warned that if the council cannot increase its tax levy by almost 10 per cent, it will have to make its own staff redundant and close the town's arts centre.

Christopher Gurteen, whose grandfather donated the hall where the centre is based, said: "When it fell into disrepair before, I was very upset and I was absolutely delighted when it was done up.

"I think it serves a very good purpose in the community and I would be devastated if it had to close."

Mr Mussett said to make up a planned cut in grant by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, the town council is already committed to a council tax increase of at least £68,000 (9.7 per cent) for the next two years.

He wrote: "In the event we are not able to achieve this increase, the town council will be looking to make around 60 per cent of its workforce redundant, together with terminating the employment of a further 10 casual staff.

"It will also mean the closure of the town's arts centre, home to a number of local arts organisations, including the local drama group, the award-winning Haverhill Silver Band, and the nationally-recognised Haverhill Sinfonia.

Summer days: children were able to try a range of activities in a free festival on Haverhill's recreation ground yesterday. Among those enjoying the day were William Bevan, 8, who helped to paint a mural. Full story and more pictures – Page 3.

Tiny tots are busy bees at animal day

CHILDREN made some new furry friends when they went along to a pre-school group's Animal Day.

Pigs, chickens, ducks, rabbits, turkeys and guinea pigs were taken along to meet visitors at the Busy Bees group at Castle Playing Fields, Haverhill, on Saturday.

Refreshments were also provided along with balloons for the children, as well as a chance to see what facilities the group has to offer. Money raised from the event will be used to buy new equipment for the group.

Anyone interested in places should phone (01440) 705800.

Changes may bring parishes into town

PARTS of neighbouring parishes could be absorbed into Haverhill in a review of boundaries.

The town council has put forward proposals to take in parts of Withersfield, Little Watting and Kedington, which are already widely regarded as part of the town.

Areas where major developments are planned, such as the north-west and north-east Haverhill schemes, are also likely to be brought into the town council's area.

It is part of a community governance review by St

Edmundsbury Borough Council. It includes parish and ward boundaries and the numbers of councillors and town councillors.

Members of the town council this week accepted a report on extending its area. But no changes in the number of councillors were currently being proposed.

The report by town clerk Gordon Mussett said there had already been informal talks with the three parishes and some agreement had been reached with Kedington and Withersfield.

But Little Watting's representative could not agree any changes.

The boundary with Kedington could be redrawn to run along the existing watercourse in the valley.

The boundary with Withersfield could be redrawn to run along the north-western edge of the flood park (along the tree belt) and then to the west of the small industrial site to the junction of Withersfield Road and Hales Barn Road. Only one property other than those in Barsey Close would be affected by the boundary change.

The suggested boundary change with Little Watting would extend the town's area to north of the proposed roundabout on the new north-west relief road before running south-east to join the new boundary with Kedington.

Although the review involves parishes in St Edmundsbury Borough Council's area, the town council is also asking for adjustments to its borders with Essex parishes so that the boundary runs along the middle of the by-pass.

Holiday fun in the sun

CHILDREN were able to try a range of activities at a free festival – and parents were allowed to join in too.

The summer festival was staged at Haverhill recreation ground yesterday by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

It included circus skills, street dance, African drumming, a fairy workshop, BMX bike show and arts and crafts activities.

Adults were able to take part as well.

Cllr Lynsey Alexander, council cabinet member for culture and sport, said: "It was a great day out with loads of new things to try out.

"We secured £20,000 a year for three years through Partners in Play Lottery funding to run this event, aimed at raising the profile of play and at increasing the opportunities for play in the borough."

A similar event was staged in Bury St Edmunds Abbey Gardens the previous day.

The borough's leisure services team was helped by staff from Abbeycroft Leisure and the Play Ranger Team from Forest Heath District Council.

Jobs and arts centre threatened

"Residents have already identified their willingness to pay for these services in Haverhill, residents surveyed as recently as November 2009 identified a willingness to pay double the existing level of town council tax for services.

"In the past 10 years, during which council tax charged by the town council has increased by 500 per cent, only two written complaints have been received by the town council regarding the increases."

Haverhill Arts Centre was built in 1883 as a gift to the town by businessman and philanthropist Daniel Gurt-een.

Mr Mussett said town councillors were encouraging residents to send their own responses to the government about potential spending restrictions.

He said further in-formation was expected to emerge next month.

■ What do you think? Would you be willing to pay an extra 10 per cent on the town council's portion of council tax to save jobs and keep the arts centre open? Email your letters to: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Arson attack clears homes

TERRIFIED residents had to evacuate their homes after an arson attack.

People living in Fennels Close, Haverhill, were asked to leave their homes after a blaze which started in a shed threatened to spread to the houses.

It was the second arson attack in the town at the weekend. In a separate incident a car was tipped on its side and set alight. The blaze also spread to a garden fence.

In the Fennels Close blaze, heat from the flames melted guttering when a fence was engulfed by the fire.

Residents, including a baby, had to leave their homes for around 40 minutes while firefighters extinguished the blaze which broke out at around 5am on

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Monday.

A resident, who did not want to be identified, said: "We were told that in another 10 minutes it could have spread into the roof of all the houses."

Police said around £2,000 damage was caused with around half the amount expected to be spent on repairs to one of the houses.

The incident involving the car happened in a parking area in Gannet Close, Haverhill, at around 4am on Sunday.

An R-registration Renault Clio was pushed onto its side and it is believed that petrol leaking from the car was deliberately ignited.

The ferocity of the blaze also threatened nearby homes in Kingfisher Close.

Ex-police officer John Case, whose daughter's car was destroyed in the incident, said: "This wasn't like someone stealing a car and taking it out into the country to set fire to it.

"This caused danger and a potential for harm to the people living in the houses."

Both incidents are being investigated as arson.

Pc Jason Thomas is investigating the Gannet Close incident. Pc Andrew Green is investigating the Fennels Close blaze. Both officers can be contacted by calling (01284) 774100. Information can also be given anonymously to Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

Residents without gas after thieves steal pipes

TWO households were left without gas when thieves stole outside pipes.

The thieves turned off the gas supply to the two homes in Warwick Court, Haverhill, before cutting through copper pipe from the meter boxes.

The pipes were worth just £20 at each property. But the households had to wait for gas engineers to restore their supply and replace the pipes.

The thefts are believed to have taken place on Monday night and were reported on Tuesday morning.

Another gas pipe on the front wall of a house in Arundel Walk was damaged at around 2.30am on Tuesday. Around £100 damage was caused.

Anyone with information should contact Sgt Sarah Bartley on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

Talented students put on summer school show

EASTERN dance and film-making were just some of the new skills picked up by youngsters spending some of their holidays attending a summer school.

This year's annual two-week summer school at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill was the biggest yet, with more than 150 gifted and talented students attending. They range from 11-13 years and attend feeder schools which will mean they go on to attend Samuel Ward later.

During the first week the students learned a range of skills including languages, using masks in drama, film and comic strip production, as well as Indian dance and music. During the second week the students chose how to use these skills to create a final show for an audience of 300 parents.

Howard Lay, head teacher at Samuel Ward, said: "It was our biggest yet and very successful."

Court to decide in closure order case

A TENANT could be barred from her home if police are successful in gaining a closure order at court today.

A hearing was due to resume over what is known as a "crack house closure order" on a house at Boxford Court, Haverhill.

The tenant Theresa Cassar is contesting the order which is being considered by magistrates sitting at Sudbury.

Last week the court heard that residents had complained about drug dealing but were too frightened to give evidence.

Karly McGuire, representing Suffolk police, told the court that

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

cocaine was found when police carried out a drugs raid at the property on July 15.

A man and a woman searched by police officers were also found to have cocaine.

Pc Will Wright told the court that residents of Boxford Court and Marlborough Court were "living with constant fear hanging over them".

He said residents had witnessed packages being exchanged for cash in an alleyway behind the house.

Some residents also complained about the "overwhelming stench of cannabis fumes".

A closure order, under the Anti-Social Behaviour Act, was served by the police last month. But because it is being contested, the magistrates have to decide whether to confirm the order.

The power to make closure orders was introduced in 2004 and authorised police officers of superintendent rank or higher to make the initial order which bars anyone other than the legitimate residents from visiting a house, bungalow or flat.

Once the order is confirmed in court, the occupant or occupants could be forced to move out.

Orders have previously been granted on other houses and flats in Haverhill.

Join in Prince's project

YOUNG people looking for an exciting challenge can join in the Prince's Trust programme.

Anyone aged 16-25 can take part in the next Prince's Trust Team Programme, based at West Suffolk College, starting next month.

The course runs for 12 weeks, is free and will not affect Jobseeker's Allowance.

A team consists of 15 young people who take part in a residential week at an activity centre, a community project and two weeks' work experience.

They can also earn City & Guilds qualifications on the programme.

Team leader Ola Anderson said: "These 60 days can change young people's lives for the better."

"You will make new friends and have a lot of fun. Team members learn practical skills and build up confidence in their own abilities."

Prince's Trust Team 11 will run from September 27 to December 13, with "taster days" on September 22 and 23.

Contact the Prince's Trust team on (01284) 716576 or text 'PTT11' to 07807 664190 to find out more.

On the trail of park's creepy crawlies!

SOME young explorers found loads of creepy crawlies when they went on a bug hunt around their local park.

The Great Big Bug Hunt in Haverhill's East Town Park was well attended last week by children aged 5 to 11 years.

Park rangers supplied them with equipment to help catch bugs and insects, as well as identify what they found.

The event was one of a series held at the park throughout the year.

Teen rider injured in collision

A DRIVER involved in a collision which left a teenage girl with a broken ankle is sought by police.

He did not leave his details, or report the collision to police, after the incident at Haverhill's Cangle junction between 10.45am and 11.15am on Saturday.

The 16-year-old girl riding the bike was taken to hospital and treated for a broken ankle and a hip injury.

The car was a black Vauxhall Corsa driven by a man believed to be in his 60s. He was balding with grey hair.

Police have appealed for the driver to come forward.

Anyone with information should contact Pc Jake Lees at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774 100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Plea for stories of listed heroes

A FESTIVAL is being planned to mark the 90th anniversary of a memorial to soldiers who died in the First World War.

The Haverhill war memorial was originally erected in 1920 to commemorate 144 local men killed in the war.

A Roll of Honour is being prepared by Haverhill Family History Group, which has appealed for help in completing the task.

The group would like to hear from any relatives of the men whose names are on the memorial.

Alan Bumpstead, chairman of the group, said: "It may lead us to a relative with a family story or a keepsake, such as a photograph, medal or letter that would add the finishing touch to the stories."

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

The festival, to be held Friday, October 29, and Saturday, October 30, is being organised by the family history group, with help from the Haverhill and District Local History Group.

It is supported by the town council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council and will be staged in Haverhill Arts Centre.

Donations will be collected for the Royal British Legion Poppy Appeal but there will be no admission charge for the festival.

It will feature a wide variety of displays on a theme of 'Remembrance'. Organisations taking part will include the Suffolk Regimental Museum, Suffolk Record Office and the Western Front Association, as well as local schools and churches.

The names on the memorial will be read out together with tributes in words or music.

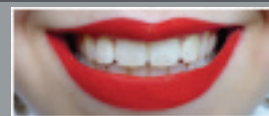

The festival will open with a parade of standards through the town centre, a display of military vehicles, re-enactment soldiers and the ringing of St Mary's church bells, just as they did 90 years ago.

As part of the event, the local history group has published a book titled Letters From The Front.

Anyone with information about the soldiers whose names are on the memorial should contact Mr Bumpstead on (01440) 704157 or email haverhill@suffolkfhs.org.uk

Full details of the weekend are online at www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk or by calling (01440) 714140.

Listen to what public wants

Sir, I am somewhat bemused by the last paragraph in your front page article, 'Big store name wants town site', (August 12) which states: "Haverhill Town Council has opposed the scheme, saying it would threaten the viability of the town centre".

Please let us know in what way exactly it would do that? Wickes is a DIY store, we do not have anything like that in the town centre.

The site is also quite some way from the town centre as well. This town and its many surrounding villages is more than able to sustain the arrival of this and many more stores.

People currently have to travel to Cambridge and Bury for such stores, taking money out of the town.

I'd like to know exactly what right the town council has to oppose any such scheme on our behalf.

This town needs these stores and we need them now.

The town council needs to wake up to what people want and we certainly don't want boarded up factories and empty parcels of land.

Just remember, you were voted onto the council by the public and for this reason you should be serving the public's needs.

License fee dodgers caught watching TV

MORE than 100 people were caught watching television without a license in Haverhill during the first six months of 2010.

The 106 caught compares to 402 in Cambridge, 121 in Bury St Edmunds and 53 in Newmarket.

They were among 209,000 people caught across the UK between January and June.

The average evasion rate remains low at just over 5 per cent.

Ian Fannon, TV Licensing spokesman, said: "The vast majority of people in Haverhill pay their license fee, and to be fair to those who pay, we have to be firm with those who attempt to get away without paying.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"We take TV license evasion very seriously and, while we give people every opportunity to pay, we will not hesitate to prosecute if people continue to break the law.

"We do understand that some people may find it difficult to pay their fee in one go, which is why we offer numerous ways to spread the cost, including monthly direct debit, which can be set up very quickly online, and a weekly cash payment plan."

A colour television license currently costs £145.50 and is required by anyone watching or recording programmes as they are shown on television, whether they are using a TV set, computer, or any other equipment.

Anyone watching TV illegally risks prosecution and a fine of up to £1,000. Further information on how to pay the license fee can be found at www.tvlicensing.co.uk/info

Teen punched in street attack

A TEENAGER was assaulted while walking with friends.

Two men approached the 17-year-old and one pushed him into a bush and assaulted him.

He suffered facial and arm injuries in the attack at Greenfields Way, Haverhill between 4.30pm and 5pm on Wednesday, August 11.

The offender is described as having a tanned complexion and wavy hair.

The teenager ran to a nearby garage where a man driving a white Vauxhall Astra van with a blue logo on the side offered him assistance. Police want to speak to this man as he may hold important information about the incident.

Calls in relation to the attack should be made to Pc Jason Thomas at Bury St Edmunds Police on (01284) 774100, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Harmonica man blows in with tips for players

HARMONICA fans could soon find themselves playing songs by Bob Dylan and the Beatles if they attend a workshop by one of the instrument's top exponents.

Steve Lockwood, who has played with top musicians – from Larry Adler to the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra – will lead the workshop at Haverhill Arts Centre on Saturday, September 4, from 10am to 3pm.

A previous workshop in the town proved popular and Steve hopes to attract even more players this time round.

The session will give tips to complete beginner to advanced players to help improve blues and pop playing and get the best out of this deceptively humble instrument.

Harmonicas will be available for sale on the day for £8.

Steve is a musician with a world-wide reputation and is currently working with the Prague Philharmonic Orchestra, concerts and a theatre musical in Switzerland.

Over the past 25 years, he has released more than 70 albums as a performer and has also been a session musician and producer.

He earned a degree in music from Anglia Ruskin University in Cambridge, specialising in harmonica, and has also gone on to compose and play music for film, television and radio.

For more details, or to book tickets, priced at £20, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Blowin' in the wind: Steve Lockwood will return to Haverhill next month to hold another harmonica workshop.

Councils to build on village café success

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A VILLAGE hall community café is being held up as an example of a project which can attract funding to improve rural life.

The Hundon café, which has a free-to-use laptop computer with internet access, was the first of its kind in the St Edmundsbury district.

It is run by volunteers on Thursday afternoons.

Now it will be the venue for a workshop, where residents of other villages can get advice on how to develop community projects.

Officials from St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Suffolk County Council's external funding team will be at the hall between 10am and 4pm on Tuesday, August 31.

Cllr Bruce Provan, the county council's portfolio holder for skills and economic development, said: "Ideally, we're looking to meet with community groups, sports groups or social clubs who have plans or ideas relating to projects that will make a real impact in their local community."

The community funding surgery session, one of three to be held across St Edmundsbury, aims to stimulate community action with groups that have ideas on community projects, such as sport, health, heritage, tourism, countryside, arts, community care, events or the environment.

Kirsty Pitwood, economic development officer at the borough council, said: "We're keen for community groups in rural areas to access support."

"We can help in identifying funding opportunities for community project ideas and build upon the great work that has gone before, such the Connected Villages broadband initiative and Community Cafe Scheme, of which Hundon was the first to be developed."

To book a place at the Hundon workshop, or the other two venues, email jim.brown@suffolk.gov.uk or call 07809 59453

Planning starts early for business awards

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A CHAMBER of Commerce is starting to plan its next business awards event – with a menu-tasting session to sample the food.

The official launch of the next Haverhill Business Awards is less than a month away and newly re-elected Haverhill chamber chairman Sarah Howard, who recently started her third year in the post, paid a visit to the venue for the 2011 event, Childford Hall, Linton.

Ms Howard was keen to see for herself the facilities on offer and quality-check the proposed cuisine for the awards night.

She said: "Our aim is to make the 2011 awards the best yet, in all aspects."

"Not only will the categories be flexible to encourage plenty of businesses to get involved, we also want to make sure all those attending have a spectacular night to remember."

The event organisers for Childford Hall arranged a special menu taster session for Ms Howard, who brought along fellow committee member Sue Warren and chamber awards organiser Kim Brown from Boleyn Events.

All courses were sampled and all the facilities on offer were inspected.

Ms Brown, managing director for Boleyn Events, said: "The key

Taste test: Sarah Howard visited Childford Hall in Linton last week to check out the proposed cuisine that will be served up at next year's Haverhill Chamber of Commerce Business Awards.

elements for a successful evening are the comfort and enjoyment of the guests and this is something we take extremely seriously, therefore by personally checking every detail ahead of the event we can assure our clients a first-class, trouble-free and extremely successful event."

To keep up to date with the planning of the 2011 Haverhill Chamber of Commerce Awards follow their facebook page www.facebook.com/haverhill

chamberofcommerce.org, or log onto the organiser's website www.boleyn-events.com

Businesses wishing to enter or sponsor the forthcoming Haverhill Chamber of Commerce Awards 2011, or those interested in finding out more about raising their profile through the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, should call Boleyn Events on (01473) 722723/4 or email kim@boleyn-events.com

Phone taken in attack

A YOUNG man was robbed of his mobile phone when he was assaulted in the street.

The man, in his 20s, was attacked in Withersfield Road, Haverhill, between 2.10am and 2.15am Sunday.

One man approached him first and hit him. Then a second man approached and they demanded his phone.

After handing over his iPhone, a family member picked him up in a car and they drove off. He saw the robbers walking in the direction of Cambridge.

The first attacker was a white man in his early 20s, 6ft tall and slim with a pale and spotty complexion, brown eyes and short brown hair gelled in a quiff. He was wearing blue jeans and a dark grey and white track-suit top.

The second was about the same age, height and build. He had a tanned complexion and was wearing a light blue track-suit top, blue jeans and white trainers.

Anyone with information should call Det Con Mike Chapman on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Best in business added to the list

TWO more local businesses have received recognition from the Best of Haverhill group.

Printing.com @ RM Design and Print and Jennifer Bradnam Travel Counsellors were awarded certificates for being highly recommended.

Although Printing.com @ RM Design and Print is a local independent business, with offices in Haverhill and Thaxted, it reaps the benefits of being part of a much larger organisation. They are part of the world-wide Printing.com franchise.

It was recommended for providing "brilliant service, perfect artwork, great quality and fantastic monthly offers".

Travel Counsellors is a global travel company founded in 1994.

Jennifer Bradnam has many years of experience in the retail travel industry and was recommended for "offering independent advice, a bespoke service, client satisfaction and the personal touch".

Tools taken from van

POWER tools worth £500 were stolen after thieves broke into a parked van.

The white Toyota Hiace was parked in Robin Close, Haverhill, between last Friday evening and Tuesday.

Anyone with information should call the Crime Investigation Bureau on (01473) 613500 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Trailer linked to theft bid

THIEVES stole a trailer from a front garden, then started to load copper onto it from a nearby building site. Police are linking the two crimes, the first at St Botolph's Place, Haverhill, between 2pm on Wednesday, August 11, and 1.15am the following morning. The trailer was stolen from a front garden and was later found abandoned at a building site in Crowland Road. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Michael Potter at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on 01284 774100.

At the building site in Crowland Road, between 4.30pm on Wednesday and 8am the following morning, offenders attempted to steal copper by loading it onto a trailer but nothing was stolen.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Guy Ainsworth at Haverhill Police on 01284 774100, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Chef's tools are taken

A CHEF'S cooking equipment has been stolen from a hotel kitchen.

The equipment, which included a 24-piece knife set, cutters, whisks, measuring cups and other items, were in an aluminium box. The total value of the equipment, stolen from the kitchen of the Bell Hotel, in Market Hill, Clare, was more than £2,300.

Anyone with information about the theft, which happened between 9.45pm last Friday and 10.50am the following morning should call Sgt Greg Egan at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Car's plates are pinched

BOTH number plates were stolen from a silver Citroen Saxo parked behind a house.

The theft happened at Windmill Rise, Hundon, between 6pm on Wednesday, August 11 and 7.30am the following morning. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Ruth Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

For good causes: Esther Mayes, Gary Dourado and son Triston Dourado, 4, sell raffle tickets for football memorabilia at the recent Haverhill Show.

Raffle kicks in £1,000 for charities

A FOOTBALL fan raised more than £1,000 for two charities by raffling off football memorabilia.

Gary Dourado raised a bumper £1,800, which was divided between Action Duchenne and the neonatal intensive care unit baby unit at Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge.

Gary heard about Action Duchenne's work after being asked to give any unwanted Christmas presents to Esther and Colin Mayes, from Haverhill, who fundraise for the charity and have two young grandsons who have Duchenne muscular dystrophy.

He was also inspired to start fundraising for the baby unit as his son Triston received treatment there after he was born.

Gary started off with a shirt signed by Leicester goalkeeper Michael Morrison and through his footballing contacts, ended up with a host of different signed photographs and shirts, as well as prizes donated by local businesses.

Gary said: "I decided to include the Addenbrooke's special baby unit because when my son Triston was born, he needed their help."

"He was born prematurely with a hole in his lung, pneumonia, and a build-up of air between his lungs and his ribs. He was in there for 12 days, very seriously ill, and the staff did a wonderful job of nursing him back to health."

He added: "As soon as I mentioned I was doing a charity raffle, people I knew started telling me that they could donate some prizes which escalated into many more offers of prizes."

"The response from people buying tickets was overwhelming. We would like to say a special thank you all the people that helped to sell tickets and to the business who sold them in their shops."

Options to resolve phone bill disputes

Q: Last month my mobile phone contract bill was extortionately high and much more than I expected. I rang the phone company, which said I had to pay the bill and then it would investigate the query. If I did not, it would cut me off. What should I do?

A: If you have a contract phone rather than a pre-pay phone, you will be committed to using a certain network, at a certain tariff for a minimum period of time, usually without any legal right to change tariff or cancel without charge.

However, if the service fails to meet the way it was sold to you, you may be entitled to a refund, compensation or both.

In the first instance, you should contact your mobile phone company. It is in a company's own interests to treat its customers fairly and well, and in most cases it will resolve the issue satisfactorily.

If the company does not help satisfactorily, your mobile phone service provider must belong to one of two telecoms dispute resolution schemes, Otelo or Cisas. These are independent complaints schemes that will investigate your complaint about a mobile phone service provider if you haven't been able to resolve your problem directly.

Haverhill Citizens Advice Bureau this month looks at how mobile phone customers should go about lodging a complaint about their bill or service, and the options available to resolve the issue.

You must give the service provider a chance to resolve the complaint first, going through its formal complaints procedure if necessary.

If it can't or won't help, after eight weeks you can take your complaint to Otelo or Cisas. You can contact them earlier if your mobile provider issues you with a "deadlock letter", stating it will not deal with your complaint.

Otelo and Cisas only deal with complaints about mobile service providers (the company you pay for your service) and not about other mobile phone retailers that "resell" mobile contracts but don't operate their own service.

If you have a bill which you cannot pay and you want to prevent the mobile phone from being disconnected, you can ask the phone company to see if it will accept regular installments on the bill and, if so, how much will be required. The company may disconnect the phone until the repayments are paid but allow incoming calls and 999 calls only.

However, you will usually have to continue paying the whole of the rental for the period of the contract and any notice period, even if you are not making or receiving any calls at all.

Haverhill CAB can be found at the Centre for Voluntary Agencies, in Lower Downs Slade, Haverhill, CB9 9HB. Statistics say that over 20% of burglaries take place after an intruder has gained access to a property through an open window or door.

Therefore it is vital that you consider improving your home security. Whether it be a security alarm, window locks, more secure door locks etc, it's better to be safe than sorry.

Make sure you fit strong locks to all external doors and windows - and keep them locked, with the keys kept out of sight in a safe place, but easily accessible to you and your family in case of fire.

It is also important to leave house keys, car keys etc away from the front door well out of the way of prying eyes. If you're installing new windows and doors remember to choose ones which are certified to British Standard PAS 24-1 for doors and BS7950 for windows.

Installing security lights to the front and rear of your property can also help you improve your home and garage security. Whilst keeping your shed or garage locked at all times will stop thieves from taking tools, bicycles and make sure that your garage doors are well-maintained and secure.

You could also install CCTV cameras as a deterrent. These can all be activated by sensors similar to those used on security lights or alarm systems or can record "time lapse" images taking still pictures at a set interval.

Other actions you can take to improve the security of your home include installing a burglar alarm. Alarm systems are worthwhile investment in the protection of your home and family. Studies reveal that it is far less likely that you will become the victim of a burglary at home if you have a correctly fitted and well-maintained burglar alarm. Remember not to leave large amounts of cash in the house, keep windows and doors locked at all times and consider joining your local Neighbourhood Watch Scheme for extra peace of mind. It pays to be safe.

Hospital highlights success

AN award-winning scheme which has reduced the time that hip and knee replacement patients spend in hospital will be highlighted at an annual public meeting.

West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds, which treats patients from the Haverhill and Newmarket areas, will use its public meeting on Friday, August 27 to give more details about the joint care programme.

The programme has reduced the time that patients need to stay in hospital after hip or knee replacement operations from 12 days to just four or five.

Willem Schenk, consultant orthopaedic surgeon with the hospital trust, will give a presentation on the programme, while a former patient will also be on hand to answer questions and share their opinions of the care they received.

The meeting will be held at the education centre at the back of the hospital site starting at 2pm.

The annual report can be viewed on line at www.wsh.nhs.uk

Giving back: Genzyme staff donated more than 160 hours of voluntary service at St Nicholas Hospice.

Helping hands get to work at hospice

STAFF from a biotech company Genzyme have been rolling up their sleeves to help out at their local hospice.

Employees from the firm's Haverhill base, along with their friends and family, served as volunteers at St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds. Together, the team volunteered more than 160 hours.

As a result, the hospice has been awarded a Genzyme Invests in Volunteer Efforts grant of US$4,000 as part of Genzyme's Global Volunteer Programme, which encourages its employees to volunteer for initiatives in their local communities.

Sue Palmer, purchasing officer and community relations officer at Genzyme, said: "It was amazing that we achieved so much in such a short space of time."

"A few hours of our time was a small sacrifice for the sense of achievement we had at the end of the day."

Hospice corporate fundraiser, Abby Hunt said: "The dedication and hard work each individual shows is incredible and much appreciated."

Ratings boost for health trust

AN NHS trust has jumped up the national ratings table to join the top 40 across the country.

An independent report has ranked NHS Suffolk as joint 31st out of 144 primary care trusts for its world class commissioning (WCC) quality assurance results.

It was ranked 87th last year in the same league table, published by a national health magazine.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

NHS Suffolk chief executive Carole Taylor-Brown said: "This is yet more proof that the NHS in Suffolk is improving its results all the time."

"We have also been listed as the best county PCT in the eastern counties, a magnificent achievement.

"Undoubtedly this is proof of the hard work and dedication of our staff and highlights their commitment to making healthcare services in Suffolk the very best they can be."

"We've come a long way since NHS Suffolk was formed in October 2006. We have turned around our financial position to wipe out the £35m debt – a major achievement – and have made huge improvements for patients, such as cutting waiting times.

"Our track record is constantly improving and progressing in line with our vision to add years to the lives of the people of Suffolk. As the NHS progresses towards putting power closer to the people, through GPs, we will stay focused on improving health and wellbeing in the county."

Renovations: the new-look White Hart pub.

CP

Fresh new look for pub with £58k revamp

A TOWN centre pub has re-opened after a £58,000 revamp.

The White Hart in Haverhill was given a makeover as part of a £20 million investment programme by owners Punch Taverns, which upgraded 450 of its 7,000 pubs across the UK.

The pub is run by Sue and Andy Marks and now boasts a new look inside, as well as a new menu and free WiFi connections for customers.

The pair said it was important that the pub kept its local identity within the community.

Andy said: "I believe we have created a great environment for all and that is really paying off with the comments we have received from our customers."

"We've had great support from Punch Taverns in re-launching the pub and I hope that the White Hart can go from strength to strength from here."

The pub has been redecorated from top to bottom and now features more comfortable seating areas and a new external patio area.

Tenants get advice at information day

A HOUSING group will hold its first ever Tenants' Day in September, offering information and advice on a range of issues.

Havebury Housing Partnership will be celebrating community achievements over the past year and giving tenants and local residents the opportunity to seek information and advice on issues including finance and debt, care support, safety in the home, adult learning and apprenticeships for getting back into work.

Great Barton Village Hall will host the event on Monday, September 20 and it will be supported by West Suffolk College, St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Workwise and Age Concern, and many community and welfare groups.

Havebury staff and members of its board of directors will be available to answer questions and will be giving demonstrations on basic repair skills.

Ellie Darling, resident involvement advisor, said: "We hope as many tenants and members of the local community as possible will join us to make the day a huge success, there really is something for everyone.

"People can stay all day or just pop in for a chat."

Refreshments will be provided throughout the day and private parking and a children's play area are available on site.

The event is free to all Havebury Tenants and transport can be provided.

For more information, phone Ms Darling on (01284) 722033, or email tenantinvolvement@havebury.com

Police link industrial estate burglary with barn break-in

TWO men who escaped from police at the scene of a burglary have been connected to a disturbed break-in at a barn.

Two white men wearing dark clothing made off from pursuing police officers in a dark coloured Volvo estate car outside an engineering firm in Hollands Road, Haverhill, between 4.30am and 4.45am on Sunday, August 1.

They drove at speed through the industrial estate and were not caught.

The offenders had broken into the engineering works by removing part of a door and gas cylinders had been loaded into a 4x4.

The burglary is being linked to a break-in in Plough Lane, Leavenheath, at around 5.20am on Saturday, July 31, when a man was disturbed inside a barn and left in a brown Volvo estate with a large tow bar on the back. Nothing was stolen.

The man is described as white, in his late 20s to 30s with a beard and wearing a white jumper.

Calls in relation to the first incident should be made to Pc Richard Baker at Haverhill Police on 01284 774100.

Anyone with information about the Leavenheath incident can contact Pc Jacqueline Philpot on (01473) 613500.

Piping taken in container raids

COPPER piping and plumbing fittings were stolen by thieves who broke into two containers on a building site.

The theft happened at Chalkstone Way, Haverhill between 6pm on Tuesday, August 10 and 7am the following day.

The thieves used cutting equipment to get into the containers.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Guy Ainsworth at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Determined: Polly Noble discovered she had cancer at the age of 24 – it was a wake-up call. It made her realise life is short and you have to get on and live it.

'Why I want cancer my HEADS turn as Polly Noble walks down the street. She's got our photographer in tow: snapping away, flashgun firing, he's attracting plenty of attention from a group of visiting schoolkids corralled on the pavement.

But – petite and impossibly pretty, with glossy dark hair, glowing eyes and luminous skin – it's Polly herself who's creating the real stir.

To see the 28-year-old, striding along King's Parade and smiling for the camera, it's nigh on inconceivable to think she's battling cancer. In fact, Polly has got secondary cervical cancer – and doctors have deemed it incurable.

"This may sound mad to a lot of people, but I'm really happy, happier than I've ever been," says Polly, settling herself at a café table and ordering a pot of green tea.

"I'm a firm believer that things happen for a reason. When I was first diagnosed with cancer, at 24, it was a wake-up call: it woke me from the coma I'd been walking round in. It made me realise that life really is short; you have to get on and live it.

"Second time round it's made me want to pass that message on: to say: 'Don't wait for your life to be turned upside down before you start living it to the full – start right now'..."

Since her diagnosis, Polly has changed her life radically. She's quit a career as a PA in the City and has trained as a life coach. She's learned the arts of meditation and visualisation and become an expert in nutrition. And she's embarked on what she describes as a "healing journey": a mission to cure herself of the cancer.

"I had the conventional treatments – chemo and radiotherapy – first time round, and I'm not knocking them," says Polly. "This time I was told I could have some radiotherapy, but there were no guarantees it would make a difference; basically, I was told my condition was incurable. So I decided to heal myself."

Polly has formulated a rigorous treatment plan. Her diet is strict. She has cut out food said to feed cancer cells (wheat, sugar, dairy) and introduced anti-inflammatory foodstuffs (like turmeric).

She has also given up meat and alcohol; instead she eats endless salads and drinks stacks of freshly-squeezed organic fruit and veg juices (picking ingredients, like broccoli, which are known for their antioxidant properties).

She also meditates and practises visualisation religiously every day; in the shower, for example, she pictures the water washing the cancer cells out of her body – and straight down the drain.

At Polly's last scan, just two weeks ago, the largest of the two secondary tumours – close to her thyroid gland, in her neck – had shrunk by 1mm.

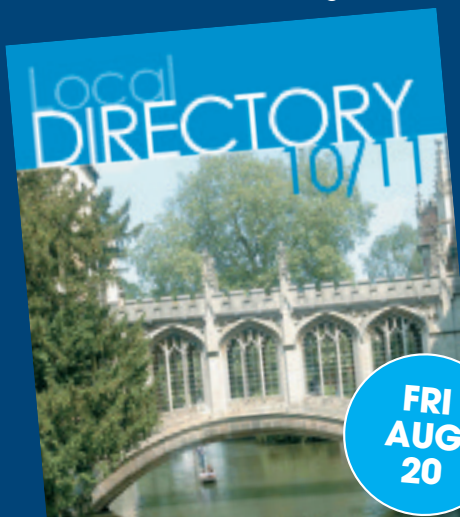

"That may not sound like much, but to me that's real progress; my mum and I had a quick 'high five' when we came out of the treatment room," she says. "But I'm not expecting the cancer to be gone overnight. This is a way of life for me now."

Polly was first diagnosed with cancer in the winter of 2005. Aged just 24, she'd suffered a bout of serious bleeding. Tests revealed advanced cervical cancer: it had spread up Polly's abdomen and into her lymph system.

Surgery, chemo and radiotherapy followed. Already very slim, Polly lost a huge amount of weight and, incredibly weak, she recalls being on the point of collapse.

But, ever determined, Polly recovered. Yet she admits returning to "normal life" was daunting. "I'd moved back home to Cambridge from London while I had treatment," she explains. "I can still remember going back on the Tube for the first time, then going into a noisy bar... It was actually quite frightening."

"Like a lot of people, before I had cancer I'd been running round the hamster wheel for years," Polly continues. "I left school at 18 and became a PA; I didn't really even want to be a PA, but I fell into it and then one job kind of led to another."

"I always had this feeling that I could be doing more, that something wasn't quite right, that something was missing... Now I'm determined to lead the happiest and most fulfilled life I can."

"I want to be the best version of myself possible – and I want to help other people fulfil their potential too."

After deciding to train as a life coach, Polly says she soon realised she'd found her niche. Describing coaching as "all about looking to the future, not looking back", setting goals and working out how to achieve them, she prides herself on "walking the talk" in her own everyday life.

"My 'healing journey' requires a lot of self-discipline," she explains. "There are mornings when I get up and think I really can't be bothered to make another juice – I have seven or eight a day – or make a salad, or go shopping for more organic fruit and veg."

"But I don't beat myself up for that; equally, I stick with it, I don't give up. I believe in allowing everything, letting it all out... It's all part of the process."

Earlier this year Polly founded the Super Self Academy (www.superselfacademy.com). Offering both remote tuition and one-to-one coaching, her aim is to help others take charge of their own lives, make positive changes – and, ultimately, find true happiness.

"I worked with one guy who was seriously overweight," continues

Polly. "In three months of working with him he lost two and a half stone and felt so much more confident, happier, healthier... Knowing you've been able to help someone – given them the tools to help themselves – is incredibly rewarding."

Polly discovered the cancer had returned this winter, after contracting pneumonia and being rushed into hospital. That's when the two growths were discovered in her neck: "I always knew that, if the cancer did return, it would be in my neck. But it was still a real shock: I was so well... Even the doctors didn't expect it."

Polly says telling her family that she was refusing conventional treatment was tough. "We sat round the table and I told them I wanted to do this myself, that I didn't want to put my body through all that again," she remembers.

"And I told them I didn't want to know if they were having problems with my decision: I just wanted to know they loved me and were there for me. They were amazing. They said: 'OK, we'll support you.'"

Relocating to Cambridge on a permanent basis, to be close to her family (her parents live in Hauxton), Polly has since dedicated herself to her nutritional programme, meditation and visualisation – and to her coaching enterprise.

As well as cutting out chemicals from her diet, Polly uses all organic and chemical-free beauty products. She is, she explains, determined to rid her body of toxins. "It's not a piece of cake," she admits. "And it can be expensive. But I don't feel like this is something I can afford not to do."

In her bid to spread both happiness and healing to others, Polly is in the midst of writing a book about her experiences and co-authoring a book on how to deal with cancer. And her "healing journey" is being followed by a documentary film crew.

"OK, so this isn't where I would have planned to be: facing cancer for the second time at 28," admits Polly. "But this is where I am – and it's down to me to make the most of it."

"If I wake up in the morning and feel like going roller skating, I go roller skating. If I want to go to Alton Towers next week, I'll go to Alton Towers next week. Life is for living – and I want to live my life to the full."

Crime falls but burglaries rise

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

CRIME in Suffolk is at its lowest rate for a decade but violent crime and domestic burglary has risen.

The overall crime rate between April 2009 and March 31, 2010, had dropped, including a reduction in the number of incidents of anti-social behaviour (ASB) in Suffolk by 1,000, a report from Suffolk Police Authority has revealed.

Officers had also exceeded the target number of detections of drug trafficking offences.

The force had continued to beat targets in answering emergency 999 calls, with the latest police authority set target to answer 90 per cent of all 999 calls within 10 seconds.

In 2008/2009, 95.8 per cent were answered within target, and in 2010/2011, 95.59 per cent, despite a 6.5 per cent increase in the volume received.

The report details the substantial work that has been undertaken to improve levels of confidence in the community.

Support was requested from the National Policing Improvement Agency, a new joint strategic ambition was established, committed to 'reducing the levels of crime and anti-social behaviour and achieving high levels of public confidence', and a dedicated working group was established to address the issue. The latest figures confirm an improvement from 46.9 per cent of those surveyed feeling confidence in Suffolk Constabulary last quarter to 49.8

per cent in the latest quarter, moving Suffolk up 15 places nationally to 21st.

Chairman of Suffolk Police Authority, Colin Spence said: "The past year has been a challenging one. It is our duty, as an authority, to oversee the constabulary's work and to ensure that the best possible policing service is provided.

"It is vital that our communities have confidence in the police to deal with the crime and anti-social behaviour issues that matter locally. The actions aimed at addressing anti-social behaviour along with the improvement in levels of confidence demonstrate the police authority's commitment to building confidence.

"Suffolk is a safe county and our performance in keeping it safe has been consistently strong throughout the last year. We will not be complacent and we will continue to monitor and work with the constabulary through the challenges that face us this year, to ensure a policing service our communities continue to value and trust."

Season to showcase best of local talent

SHOWCASING the best in local theatrical talent, the ADC Theatre in Cambridge looks set to entertain, challenge and enchant in its forthcoming season of performances.

In September, immerse yourself in the complex, beautiful and dangerous world of New York City with two Oscar Wilde-inspired plays by a dazzling local playwright. The Strangeness of Love, taking themes, moods and ideas from The Picture of Dorian Gray, tells the story of a painter and his muse, whose relationship is challenged by jealousy, insecurity and temptation.

In A Bed for the Night, Jack lives with his partner Ernest. But why does he pretend to have a wife named Susanna? These two exciting new one act plays will run one after the other from September 21 – 25.

■ From September 30 – October 2, The Magician's Box provides another slice of Victoriana. Eminent Victorian John Joseph Mechi gained huge wealth through the development of his 'Magic Razor Strop' and became the Alderman of London. But when his attention turned to agriculture, new challenges were put before him.

■ Ready to greet the new university term comes a compelling production of The Tempest, performed by the Cambridge American Stage Tour. The Tempest was written by Shakespeare as a final farewell to the stage, and so the company will conclude their run in Cambridge with six shows from October 5 – 9 after six months of touring the show in the US.

■ Meanwhile, the celebrated Cambridge Footlights crew will be bringing their Good For You show back from Edinburgh to its home town from October 5 – 9 for the late-night slot.

■ Get your bunsen burners out later in the month for The Alchemist. The Marlowe Society will take on this Ben Jonson classic from October 12 – 16.

■ The first Smoker of the term takes place on October 12, bringing an evening of funny songs, sketches, monologues and stand-up.

■ The Marlowe Society is on stage again from October 13 – 16 with The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged). Presenting 37 plays – and a few poems – in just 57 minutes, the actors will be weaving their way through the works of the nation's favourite playwright.

■ Our favourite duo Cherry and Blossom are back for the new term with a sumptuous, glittering show. Witness the highs and lows of Hollywood life as the pair try and make it on the big screen while giving us a tour of the golden age of Hollywood: from silent screen melodrama to the joy-filled 50s musical. Catch them on October 19 and 23.

■ In the stifling darkness of an oppressive Indian night, someone is harbouring a secret. The Fire Within offers a poignant snapshot of a decaying empire. From October 19 – 23.

■ Since its Pulitzer Prize-winning premier and the motion picture starring screen legends Paul Newman and Elizabeth Taylor, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof has been universally acknowledged as a modern classic.

Cambridge's finest talent presents a fresh rethinking of this hilarious, sensuous masterpiece from October 26 – 30.

■ In the trenches of France in 1918, Captain Dennis Stanhope and his troops have been dramatically altered by their years of constant fighting in the worst conditions imaginable.

The threat of a German attack threatens to render all of this futile. Journey's End runs from November 2 – 6.

■ Born in Hull as the daughter of a fishmonger, Amy Johnson was crowned Queen of the Skies for her bold aerial expeditions during the 1930s.

The events leading up to her death in 1941 are portrayed in Amy Wonderful Amy, which runs from November 2 – 6.

■ Indulge in the wit and wordplay of Noel Coward's Relative Values, a delightful comedy set in the 1950s. Havoc reigns when Nigel, the son of the Countess of Marshwood, announces his intention to marry the American actress, Miranda Frayle – to the absolute horror of his mother and the servants of the house. It runs from November 16 – 20.

■ The autumn season wraps up with the celebrated CUADC and Footlights pantomime, which can always be relied on to supply much madness and mirth. In this year's production, follow the fate of old Hamelin town, which has become overrun by hundreds and hundreds of rats. The Pied Piper should be the biggest, loudest and funniest show of the year. Book tickets early for this popular panto, which runs from November 23 – December 4.

Extra date: Peter Andre.

More dates with Peter

PETER Andre has added three new dates to his Revelations tour – including one in Cambridge.

The pop heartthrob will be at the Corn Exchange on Tuesday, November 30, where he'll be performing classic hits like Mysterious Girl and Insania alongside material from his as-yet-unreleased new album.

The Revelations tour will see Andre playing arenas including The O2, Manchester MEN and Glasgow SECC, making his three warm-up shows (as well as Cambridge, he'll also play Ipswich and Plymouth) a rare chance to see him in action in more intimate venues.

Tickets went on sale on Friday. Contact: (01223) 357 851.

Village transformed to 1940's wartime Britain

A VILLAGE will transform itself back to the 1940s this weekend to experience the wartime way of life – without the danger.

Ramsey's 1940's Weekend event is being held on the old airfield at RAF Upwood, by kind permission of Turbine Motor Works, and thousands of visitors are expected on Saturday and Sunday.

RAF Upwood was operational during both wars, serving as a base for the Pathfinder group during the Second World War and provides an atmospheric venue with an unspoilt backdrop in rural north Cambridgeshire.

At this special event, entertainment for all the family is scheduled across the two days.

Re-enactment groups, both civilian and military, will be providing entertainment. There will be live wartime 'stand-up' entertainment acts, swing-dance demonstrations, fashion shows, a vintage funfair, trade stalls with 1940's memorabilia as well as tank rides, military demonstrations and train rides on a light railway.

There will be more than 200 civilian and military vehicles on show as well as a free bus service from and to Ramsey town in a genuine 1940's bus.

This year there will be a larger airshow which will feature such aircraft as the Battle of Britain Memorial Flights Lancaster and Spitfire, a P51 Mustang, FW190, ME108, L4 Cub, Cessna 01, Nanchang CJ6a, Myles Majester and a Boeing PT17 Stearman.

On the Saturday night there will be a dance in the hangar with music by the Opus One Big Band, the Bovril Sisters and Pete Baker's decades of sound.

On Sunday, time is taken to hold a special drumhead service to remember those who gave their lives serving their country. This will also include the laying of ex-services standards as well as musical support by the Peterborough Highland Piped Band.

The event generates the most incredibly warm and friendly atmosphere offering one of those 'remember when' occasions to be locked in the memory for ever whilst raising money for charities. Last year these numbered 33 different charities and local good causes.

Wartime experience: scenes from previous Ramsey 1940's Weekends.

Day tickets are £7.50 adults, £5 children and concessions, under 5s free, family ticket £20.

Dance tickets are priced at £15 and can be purchased at Carousel in the Great Whyte, Ramsey, or via the details below.

For further details contact Jayne on 07881730047 or by email at ramsey1940sweekend@live.co.uk you can also visit the website at www.ramsey1940sweekend.info

Flower club hosts sixth annual show

FOR the sixth consecutive year The Haverhill and District Flower Club will be staging its annual flower show tomorrow and Saturday at Haverhill Arts Centre. The show will be open to the public from 1.30pm to 5pm on Friday and 10am to 5pm on the Saturday with free entry.

■ Elizabeth Harrison is the guest of the Haverhill Keyboard Club on Tuesday at 7.30pm. She has a varied programme including military marches, big band, orchestral arrangements, novelty tunes and more. Tickets £7.

■ There is fun for children ages 3 plus on Wednesday when Garlic Theatre bring The Three Billy Goats Gruff at 11am. A 40-minute show and tickets are £4.50/FT £6.

■ Youth Tube is a live alcohol free event for 13 to 19 year olds from 7.30pm to 10.30pm on Friday, August 27. Entry is £3 with videos, big screens, live MCs, VJs, DJs and dance and live performance.

Call the box office on 01440 714140 for details.

■ Cinema showings start with Letters to Juliet (PG), on Monday at 1.30pm. The story of four young soldiers during the first Lebanon War in the early 1980s follows in Lebanon (15) on Monday at 7.45pm.

A bored Shrek is back in Shrek Forever After (PG) on Thursday, August 26 at 10.30am and Tuesday, August 31 at 2.30pm. La Danse: The Paris Opera Ballet (PG) can be seen on Thursday, August 26 at 7.45pm. Cinema tickets from £3.50.

The big film

THE SORCERER'S APPRENTICE (PG, 109 mins)

Action/Comedy/Romance. Jay Baruchel, Nicolas Cage, Alfred Molina, Teresa Palmer, Toby Kebbell, Monica Bellucci, Alice Krige, Omar Benson Miller, Jake Cherry. Director: Jon Turteltaub.

HALFWAY through Jon Turteltaub's fast-paced yarn, the eponymous hero calls upon what little magical knowledge he possesses to command an army of mops to clean his secret hideaway.

It only takes a couple of notes of Paul Dukas's rhythmic orchestral work, featured most famously in the Disney animation Fantasia, for us to realise that enchanted cleaning tools and endless buckets of sloshing water are a recipe for disaster, or a sizeable insurance claim.

Like so much in the film, this well-orchestrated scene promises copious tongue-in-cheek thrills but doesn't quite deliver.

Certainly, Turteltaub's film has its pleasures, including a Chinatown dragon on poles that morphs into an actual mythical beastie that rampages through the New York district. However, the screenwriters' weak potion of family-friendly action, comedy and romance doesn't linger in the memory for long.

Harry Potter's wand won't be trembling in his hand.

As a boy, Dave Stutler (Cherry) wanders into the Arcana Cabana antiques store and has a strange conversation with its owner, Balthazar Blake (Cage), who reveals that the youngster is to become a great wizard – the Prime Meridian – and defeat the forces of evil under the control of evil Morgana Le Fay (Krige).

Before Balthazar can begin the youngster's tuition, dastardly rival Maxim Horvath (Molina) intervenes and a fight ensues, trapping both sorcerers inside a magical urn.

Ten years later to the day, Dave (now played by Baruchel) is a brilliant physics student with an unrequited crush on pretty classmate Becky (Palmer). Balthazar and Maxim finally escape their pottery purgatory and both men race to track down Dave, who possesses an enchanted Russian doll that imprisons Morgana for all eternity.

Thankfully, Dave has Balthazar to protect him while he learns the basics of sorcery.

So Maxim takes his own apprentice, world famous illusionist Drake Stone (Kebbell), and together they plot Morgana's resurrection.

The Sorcerer's Apprentice opens with a prologue set in Britain 740AD that sketches the legend of Merlin and his three apprentices before fast-forwarding to the 21st century Big Apple.

Turteltaub's film certainly isn't complicated – you won't need to cast a spell of clairvoyance to foresee how Dave's journey ends – nor to recognise the potential opening for a sequel.

Bring the Med in with some gravel

HOSEPIPE bans, parched grass and withering plants during the heat of summer make gravel gardens seem all the more tempting.

In fact, making a gravel garden is pretty easy if you choose Mediterranean-style plants including lavender, euphorbias, cistus, santolina and phlomis, which provide plenty of nectar and pollen for visiting insects.

Gardens of grasses, smaller plants or natives from rocky hillsides are well suited to a gravel garden. Succulents also like a gritty soil.

Once established, a gravel garden featuring drought-tolerant plants such as phormium, blue grass, iris, alpine pinks and sempervivum needs almost no maintenance.

Ideally, you need a sunny, well-drained spot with predominantly sandy soil. If you have heavy clay soil add plenty of organic matter before you start to help improve drainage.

Gravel is an ideal background for bright flowers, but paler whites and yellows can look insipid. One downside

by Hannah Stephenson

is that self-seeding plants (such as eryngiums and some geraniums) can become a problem because gravel is perfect for seedlings.

Lay landscape fabric over the soil, before you add the gravel, to stop weeds and help prevent the plants self-seeding. Cut slits in the fabric which are large enough to take the root ball of the plants.

There's a wealth of choice in grades and colour of gravel, but make sure you choose one which is going to fit in with the colour of your garden stone or bricks and style of your home.

Medium-grade gravels tend to be easier to walk on than smaller grades, rounded pea shingle or large cobbles. If cats are a problem in your garden, they may be put off by larger grades of gravel.

There's a surprisingly wide choice of plants that will survive and thrive in a well-drained gravel garden in a sunny spot, including alliums, ceanothus, salvia, lavender, rosemary, thyme, echinops, nepeta and cosmos, as well as a variety of ornamental grasses. A comprehensive list can be found on the Royal Horticultural Society's website at www.rhs.org.uk

Gravel gardens are low-maintenance but you will have to weed thoroughly in the first couple of years, while young plants are trying to establish. Once they are big enough they should suppress most weeds naturally. Remove spent flower stalks in the autumn or, if left over winter for architectural effect, in early spring.

Helianthemums, cistus and sages will give your garden a Mediterranean feel, while succulents and ice plants, coupled with some lovely grasses, create a more coastal look.

Whatever else you do, make the garden fit into the larger environment. Use some larger rocks, pieces of wood or big old stumps to create focal points.

Low maintenance: a gravel garden provides the perfect setting for many plants while being easy to keep tidy. Inset: the hot colours of Gaillardia.

Many gravel gardens inevitably have a path embedded into them, so that residents don't drag the gravel into the house on their feet. Many end up using railway sleepers, bedded into the gravel, to make attractive, informal paths.

Decide how you want to use the garden before siting the path. Do you want it to feel like one large space or several small areas, do you want the path to meander or would you rather it lead directly to the destination? Once your gravel garden is established, you may never worry again about a hosepipe ban.

BEST OF THE BUNCH Gaillardia (Blanket flower)

Stunning daisy-like flowers in red or orange, tipped with yellow or gold and measuring up to 10cm (4in) across make a welcome splash of colour in the herbaceous borders at this time of year. The flowers emerge from early summer and can last until autumn if you deadhead them regularly. They also make ideal cut blooms. The type you're most likely to come across are hybrids bred from G. aristata and G. pulchella, both from the dry, sunny prairies of North America. They love sunny, well-drained borders and thrive in sandy soils.

Good varieties include 'Dazzler', which produces big flowers with a red centre and orange edge, or 'Wirral Flame', which has dark red flowers with a yellow tip. Cut them down to ground level in the autumn, after flowering has finished, and divide clumps every three years.

Huge range of '60' plate options at dealerships

DEALERSHIPS around the region are getting ready for the September plate change, which this year has a new identifying number – "60".

There's a host of new vehicles on the way, from the new Land Rover Discovery to the new Kia Picanto – and a host of tempting offers which are sure to save you hundreds and sometimes thousands of pounds.

"We've got a range of cars and deals to suit everyone," said EMG Motor Group's general manager Kevin Driscoll, "whether it's a budget car or something high-spec and sporty."

"Anyone looking to buy a new car should pay us a visit – we've got the biggest new car showroom in East Anglia, with 50 cars on display and more than 120 cars on the forecourt."

EMG's new car franchises are Fiat, Mazda, Kia and Subaru. Offers include:

■ Kia is offering the new Picanto for £99 per month and the Rio for just £110 per month as well as £1,500 minimum part-exchange on the 7 Year Switch deal.

■ Fiat: You can save up to £1,700 off list price on the New Panda with just 2 per cent APR across the Fiat range – all with minimal deposits.

■ Mazda: In EMG's Milton Road showroom now is the New Special Edition Takuya Range for the Mazda2, 3 and 6, incorporating a Free Sports Appearance Pack and more.

■ Subaru: EMG has the full range of Subarus in its 50-car showroom including the new Legacy with a special business rate of £299 + VAT per month.

Meanwhile, across town at Marshall on Newmarket Road, business development manager

Christopher Walkinshaw is enthusing about the dozen marques on the site and the offers for those looking to buy a new car this autumn.

"September is shaping up to be good month for customers and garages as exchange rates move in favour of sterling against the euro, and interest rates remain at record low levels," Mr Walkinshaw said. "Vehicle manufacturers are keen to make the most of this situation and have come out with some very strong consumer offers which mean that customers looking for new cars can find a great deal out there which suits their needs."

"The other factor which is helping to drive business for the back end of 2010 is the impending rise in VAT from January 2011 which will cause new car prices to rise accordingly and there is lots of evidence of customers looking to buy this year and beat the VAT rise."

Offers at Marshall's include:

■ Marshall Jaguar is offering the new XF priced at £29,900 on the road at £299 per month.

■ Marshall Land Rover is offering the Freelander 2 GS with two years interest-free finance (0 per cent APR).

■ Marshall Volvo has the Volvo S40 DRIVE S at £16,846 until the end of August (a £4,000 saving against the manufacturers' recommended price).

■ Marshall Ford is offering the Fiesta 1.25 Zetec 3dr with a £3,000 saving at £10,495.

Something for everyone: EMG Motor Group general manager Kevin Driscoll with a Kia Soul and new Kia Picanto outside the firm's Milton Road showroom. Picture: Duncan Lamont 670163

■ Marshall Peugeot has a special edition 107 at £107 a month with the Just Add Fuel promotion, which includes free comprehensive insurance, servicing, breakdown cover, road tax and warranty.

■ Marshall Seat has the Seat Ibiza Sport 1.4 3dr with interest free finance.

■ Marshall Hyundai is offering the high spec Hyundai i10 1.2 Ranger 5dr at just £6,850 – a saving of £875 against the retail list price.

■ Marshall Citroen has new C1 VT 1.0 3dr on offer at £6,495, saving £2,000 on the manufacturers' retail price of £8,495.

■ Marshall Nissan has several registered Nissan Pixo N-Tecs available at £6,495, saving more than £2,200 over the list price.

Meanwhile, the new Saab 9-5 is available to test drive at Cambridge Saab in Harston.

"It's the first completely new Saab in over seven years," said dealer principal James Howarth, "and significantly, following Saab's separation from General Motors, the first vehicle from a whole raft of new car models coming to the Cambridge Saab showrooms over the next 18 months."

Prices for the all-new Saab 9-5 start at £26,495 for the 2.0 T1D diesel Vector SE.

Whatever you're looking for, there's sure to be something you'll like – and this Friday's Cambridge News to help you make a decision.

2011 Land Rover Freelander 2: Two years interest-free finance.

And there's lots of good used bargains too...

MANY of this summer's A-level recipients won't be sitting around enjoying their last holiday before going on to university – they will be busy shopping around for bargain wheels.

Used Car Expert magazine

editor Matthew Tumbridge points out that the top student picks are the Kia Picanto – a 2004 example is pictured above – the Fiat Punto, and the Peugeot 107, with good-order, low-mileage examples of all three available for around £2,000.

"New university entrants all want a second-hand car that is cheap, which means they must source small engines to keep insurance costs down, and should also look for cars that have depreciated a lot without piling on the kind of mileage that makes them more likely to break down."

Students should also factor in a lot of carrying space, warns Tumbridge, because several times a year many will make a lengthy pilgrimage from home to campus and back again carrying several weeks' dirty washing.

"That's on top of the very first run to university, when the car will need to ferry literally everything they own – including duvets, ironing boards, large inflatables, and even lava lamps."

"Reliability will also be a prime requirement, especially for the regular road trips to events ranging from Hogmanay in Scotland to the Glastonbury festival," Tumbridge adds.

With all those factors in mind, here's three other cars to consider that Tumbridge reckons will give good all-round student service.

"The Rover 25 has a 1.1-litre engine, and a nine-year-old example with mileage as low as 35,000 – remember, a lot were bought by older, more sedate drivers – can be found for around £1,700 to £2,000."

"A Seat Ibiza is much cooler, though, and the 1.2 petrol version is in low insurance groups, and a 2002 model, with average mileage of 60,000, will cost from £2,100 to £2,800."

And, while a Kia Rio is rare, states Tumbridge, any student who can find one from 2005 on will be getting a sound buy.

» Youth football: News from West Wrating FC

Festival proves a massive success

Well turned-out: West Wrating under-13s. CP

WEST Wrating Youth Football Club held their annual event on Sunday, with more than 400 people in attendance, witnessing over 30 goals during a spectacular festival of football friendlies from under-seven to under-15. Guest teams from Linton Aztecs, Burwell Tigers, Cherry Hinton Lions, Kedington and Witchford Colts took part.

The event coincided with the club's annual cash prize draw which, when combined with the day's takings, raised more than £1,400. Chairman & event Kevin Ager said: "This year our voluntary help was well over 40 Parents from all of our teams, they all applied themselves brilliantly on the day, ensuring every person of every age who came along really enjoyed themselves."

"There was a real family day out atmosphere all day. If you have no volunteers there would be no event. For this I personally thank everyone for their support to their club and also thanks to our guest teams for supporting the day."

■ West Wrating are looking to add to their under-10 squad for the coming season. If you are interested in joining (and you were born between September 1, 2000 and August 31, 2001) then please contact Colin Fellows on 07971 462224 for more details.

FRIENDLY

NEWLY promoted Colchester & District League side Clare provided a good pre-season test for the Reds.

The defence was again sound, with man of the match Jamie Boulton at the heart of things.

The Reds had all the early possession, and Scott Hayes, Cameron Biggs, Liam Curran and Matt Burley all went close, but the home side opened the scoring.

Just before the break, Burley headed on for Jordan Guest to fire home to level things.

The Reds moved through the gears in the second half and Curran found Guest, who drew a great stop from the home keeper, only for Ryan Whittleby to chip the rebound into the top corner.

Biggs then released Guest, whose excellent cross was met at the back post by a Whittleby header to settle the game.

Wrating face Newmarket Town at Bull Lane on Sunday (11am).

Meanwhile, West Wrating under-15s have announced a sponsorship deal with Safebox Self Storage, based on Coldhams Lane in Cambridge.

The team members were presented with their new strip at the club's registration day by Charlie Schneider, manager of Safebox, who said: "We're really delighted to be working with West Wrating FC. The under-15 team has seen a number of players progress to play at professional level and it is great that we're able to support the great work which goes on at the club."

■ At the recent West Wrating Youth FC awards evening the following under-14s players received their awards from manager Keith Warnock, coach Pete Wilson and chairman Kevin Ager.

Haverhill rebound after loss

IN the Norfolk & Suffolk Tennis League Division One, Haverhill lost 6-2 away to Bury Risbygate. The pairings were Abi Cartright-Thomas with Lucy Hardwick and Marcia Armstrong with Gill Argent.

The ladies did better in their next match away against Bury Victory, drawing 4-4.

On this occasion, Cartright-Thomas teamed up with Rachel Jeffs, and Armstrong and Argent were again together. The men's B Team drew 4-4 at home to Burwell in the Norfolk & Suffolk Division Three.

Jake Warner and Simon Goddard won all of their four sets – 6-4, 7-5 against Dennis Peacock and David Turner and 7-6, 6-4 against Mark Bishop and Joe Langly. The Haverhill second pair of Ray Goddard and Ken Hurrell had a different outcome, losing 2-6, 3-6 to Bishop and Langly and 4-6, 1-6 to Peacock and Turner.

» Golf: Latest news from Haverhill GC

Liam earns his win on Merritt

LIAM Merritt was four shots clear as he won the P Bowers Trophy for juniors at Haverhill Golf Club.

Merritt put in an excellent round of 76-12-64, reducing his handicap to 11, in the process, to beat Ellis Brown (85-17-68) into second and Chris Vince (73-4-69) into third.

David Roope needed countback to win the Men's midweek medal. His nett score of 64 saw him reduce his handicap by two shots.

Results - Division One: 1 Richard Boyles 74-8-66, 2 Lewis Whiting 79-11-68, 3 Paul Hinchliffe 75-6-69. Division Two: 1 David Roope 78-14-64, 2 Stephen Boyles 85-18-67, 3 John Stokes 83-15-68. Division Three: 1 Chris Mellings 86-22-64, 2 Geoff Dorkins 90-21-69, 3 Martin Mansfield 91-21-70.

The Seniors Open, played as a four ball better ball event, was won with a score of 42pts by Eric Howlett of Five Lakes and Mike Gladden of The Essex. They edged out Dennis Harkness of Haverhill and Peter Dobson of Abbotsley on countback, with J Patey and N Stechman of The Essex third with 40pts.

Nearest the pin on the eighth was John Banks of Bury St Edmunds, while Norman White of Haverhill took the accolade on the 16th. The best front-nine score was Meston Christie and Wilf Paulson of Girton with 23pts, and the best on the back nine were D McCormick and Brian Woods of Newmarket with 21pts.

The best score for par-threes and par-fives was by Chris Wash and Bernie Gault of Gosfield.

Although hampered by a few thundery showers, the day was a huge success, and £300 was raised for Cancer Research UK.

Charlie Hudson cut his handicap to single figures with a terrific show in the men's medal on Saturday. Hudson shot a nett 58 to reduce his figure from 11 to nine.

Results - Division One: 1 Charlie Hudson 69-11-58, 2 Liam Merritt 75-11-64, 3 Mel Stuart 72-6-66. Division Two: 1 Bob Campbell 87-19-68 on count back from Kim Ward 82-14-68 and Tom Meeks 82-14-68. Division Three: 1 Sean Doyle 92-25-67, 2 Bob Spittle 94-24-70, 3 Paul Meeks 94-34-71.

The Melford Cup was played in mixed teams of three, with all three scores to count off seven-eighths handicap.

Winning with 88pts was the team of Lady Captain Sally Price, Andy Fish and Peter Mercer. In second were Gerrie Wheatley, Graham Kennedy and David Roope with 87pts, and in third Pat Kennedy, Charlie Sigler and John Grainger with 86pts.

» Cricket: Haverhill keep up their run as pair get among the runs

ADAM Dellar and Steve Fox shared a match-winning partnership against Battisford to steer Haverhill to their sixth successive victory in Division One of the Hunts County Bats Suffolk Sunday League.

Haverhill won the toss and decided to bowl on a green wicket, and the decision immediately paid dividends as Russell Davis claimed a wicket, caught by Sam Pass, in the first over.

Davis continually beat the bat in a superb opening spell, and picked up two further wickets to finish with figures of 10-1-20-3.

Julian Poole was miserly at the other end, and his replacement Joe Woodley reaped the benefit as he took 3 for 10 from seven overs.

Dean Sharpe took 2 for 33, Pass claimed one wicket and there was a run-out by Joey Kettle as Battisford slumped to 87 all out in 33 overs.

In reply, despite losing Kettle for only one in the fifth over, Fox's unbeaten 40 and Dellar's knock of 48 not out saw Haverhill home before drinks without any real problems, although Dellar was dropped off a tough caught and bowled chance.

Anthony Phillips took three wickets but could not prevent a young Haverhill II side going down by 99 runs at Rougham on Sunday.

Ryan Fowler and Tom Saville restricted Rougham to 28 in the first 10 overs, but they then accelerated to around five an over.

Wickets did fall, with Phillips taking 3 for 32, but the home side were able to post 172 for 7 at the end of their overs.

Haverhill were very soon in trouble, losing their best batsman, Sam Hartshorn, in the first over as Rougham opened up with fast bowling and attacking fields.

Survival at the crease was relatively short for most of the Haverhill batsmen, the only exception being a 35-run partnership between Billy Gage (20) and Graham Brandeys (16).

The end came in the 26th over with the score on 73 as the hosts, with an average age around 30, completed a win against a Haverhill side featuring only two over-18s, but who would have learned from the experience.

Horseheath survived Saturday's wash-out, only to lose by nine wickets at leaders Hardwick & Caldecote in the Cricket Stick CCA Senior League, Division One. Hosts Horseheath put 237 for 9 on the board thanks to the efforts of David Brown (59), Martin Farrant (51) and Mick Ketteridge (47).

Viraj Andrabadu was the best of the bowlers with 4 for 58.

But Mark Ainslie carried his bat for 117 and constructed two excellent partnerships as Hardwick coasted to victory.

The opener hit eight fours and five maximums as he remained unbeaten and put on 168 for the first wicket with Udana Ranatunga (67).

And Namal Senevirathna, who was undefeated on 37, helped Ainslie complete the job with a 70-run stand as the visitors reached 238 for 1.

Elsewhere, the bulk of the cricket programme was rained off, including Weston Colville's Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League match at Yaxley and Haverhill's match against Braintree in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

Paffett's closing the gap

GARY Paffett hauled himself back into contention in the DTM German Touring Car Masters with a third-place finish at the historic Nurburgring.

Haverhill-based Paffett (below) qualified his Mercedes-Benz AMG in fifth place but made a bright start and when Audi's Timo Scheider ran wide while attempting to overtake Jamie Green, Paffett took advantage to move up to fourth.

A quick entry to the pits gave him a further edge and after the first round of stops he was well placed in third. The 29-year-old withstood strong pressure from Scheider before the next round of pit stops and again he came out on top.

Dark clouds threatened a torrential downpour but only light spots fell and Paffett held on to third place, behind winner Bruno Spengler and Green.

"I'm pleased with the result as it's been quite a tough weekend for me and the team," said Paffett.

"I had a good race pace and despite having used up all my good tyres during qualifying I was able to keep a similar gap to the cars in front of me throughout the race.

"It's great to be back up on the podium and I want to say a big thanks to the team for their perfect pitstop, which played an important part in the result."

Spot on: Stuart Wardley converted a penalty to put Rovers two up

Cup joy for Betts

MARC Abbott and Stuart Wardley were both on target as Haverhill held on for a deserved win over Hadleigh at New Croft.

Abbott gave them the perfect start when he scored in the fifth minute, rifling a 20-yard free kick into the top corner.

Paul Abbott saw a shot turned around the post in the 17th minute and Marcus Hunt sent a header from Marc Abbott's corner inches wide moments later.

But Haverhill did not have to wait long to extend their lead as Wardley converted a penalty, awarded following a foul on Craig Cutts, in the 23rd minute.

The visitors reduced the deficit in the 67th minute but Haverhill held on for the win, and almost added a third two minutes from time when Wardley headed against the top of the bar.

"We were dominant in the first half and should have been three or four up at half time," said Rovers manager Peter Betts.

"But Hadleigh scored against the run of play and we held out for a good win in the end.

"I thought their keeper should have been sent off for the foul on Craig as there were no covering defenders, but we're through and it doesn't matter now.

"It would be great financially to win a few games in the Cup, but anything is a bonus after an early exit last year."

Haverhill next face Wellingborough, and Betts travelled to watch their clash with Yaxley in the Hereward Teamwear United Counties League Premier Division on Tuesday night.

Rovers return to Ridgeons League, Premier Division action on Saturday with a trip to Norwich United (3pm), and follow up with a home clash against Wisbech at the New Croft on Tuesday (7.45pm).
